We recall how bitter was the denunciation of Germany when the Imperial Chancellor, taken to task for the invasion of Belgium in 1914, referred to the treaty which guaranteed Belgian independence, as a "scrap of paper."

Italy is preparing to invade Ethiopia, notwithstanding a treaty signed with France and Great Britain recognizing and guaranteeing Ethiopian independence. This treaty was signed before the World War. Since the end of that inexcusable crime against human kind, the League of Nations has been formed and the Pact of Paris which is the Kellogg-Briand treaty, was signed by Italy and a host of other nations. Italy is violating all three of these commitments. Her legions are preparing under Mussolini, the Napoleon of Facism, to take by force the centuries old independent and peaceful land of Ethiopia, in as bold a defiance of both justice and human rights as any example of wrong doing in the history of mankind.

Article X of the League Covenant says: "The members of the League undertake to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League." Article II of the Kellogg pact says: "The high contracting parties agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or whatever origin they may be, which may arise, shall never be sought except by pacific means."

Germany a few months ago deliberately violated the provisions of the treaty of Versailles and was denounced for it, but this treaty was dictated to Germany by overwhelming hostile forces at the close of a long war. It hardly represented a free and voluntary agreement of the German nation. On the other hand, the League Covenant and the Paris Pact were signed by Italy and Japan without coercion, yet Japan violated them by invading China and Asia and Italy will soon disregard both by an invasion in Africa. Unless something is done to increase the respect of nations for their signed word and treaties they might as well be considered useless and their negotiation a waste of time.

As their Men of War steam to positions at Suez, the British are looking ahead, preparing to defend the Canal and their naval supremacy in the Mediterranean Sea. Soldiers are being sent to Malta, the island base and the ports near the canal. The fleet in the Mediterranean is being greatly strengthened, so that it will be more powerful than any of Italy may have at its disposal for attack.

The British feel that Mussolini is going wild and while they do not know what the future has in store for them with the International Bad Boy strutting about threatening the peace of the world, they are quietly preparing to take care of their vast colonial interests and safeguard their trade lines. Almost without exception the British flag is the only color that flashes against the darkening war clouds. Civilization may well thank the English for what they are trying.

Bradbury's Store Announces New Fall Merchandise Stocks

Advertising that combines both the advantage of lowered prices as well as quality in merchandise with emphasis on the latter, is begun this week in the Herald by C. W. Bradbury's store in Cameron.

Mr. Bradbury has been in Cameron 15 years. He recently returned from the markets of the East where he bought a large supply of fall merchandise for all departments of his store. This week he tells the big family of Herald readers on Thursday morning about his new stocks.

The Bradbury store has always stressed quality merchandise. The store has never confused the principle of value given with strictly low prices. It has considered there is more to the transaction of a sale than the payment of money for goods.

Mr. Bradbury does not quote prices. In this respect the ad is unusual, but so is the Bradbury store unusual. Every article of merchandise sold must be quality first goods. This fall it will be Open House at this store for the advantages of many.

CITY TURNS DOWN BIG PLEA AGAINST POLLS

A petition signed by 709 residents of Cameron asking that the city poll tax be abolished was presented to the council Tuesday night by Jeff Cammer who acted for the signers.

These petitions have been circulated for some time. Cameron is one of the few towns where poll levy is made. The city government told Mr. Cammer and the 709 petitioners that it had already made use of the funds to come in from poll tax payments and could not abolish the poll at this time.

Whether the council will take any action at any future date on this matter remains to be seen. The budget takes into consideration the poll tax funds.

The council gave the Fair Association $100 to light the park in October. Secretary Paden expressed appreciation for this aid from the city.

$100,000 Toll Is Taken by Fire

J. Wesley Hooper, 35, and Wilbur Williams, 21, lost their lives in Rockdale early Tuesday morning when they sought to help volunteer firemen fight back a blaze that for more than five hours threatened the business district of the city and destroyed the Scarborough & Hicks stores.

Loss in property damage was estimated at $100,000 by Boswell Newton of the Scarborough & Hicks stores.

Hooper was representative for the Tennessee Insurance Company. Masonic funeral services were held for him Wednesday in Rockdale and the body taken to his home at Taylor for burial.

Williams, an employee of a filling station, was buried in Sand Grove Cemetery late Tuesday.

Both men were crushed when an awning crashed down on them at the front of the buildings.

It was Rockdale's most disastrous fire since 1888 when 11 people were burned to death in the old Mundine Hotel disaster.

Cameron firemen and equipment went to Rockdale shortly after 3 a. m. Tuesday to assist the Rockdale firemen. For a time the blaze threatened to engulf the city. The store had recently received a car load of merchandise. All was destroyed. The loss is said to have been partly covered by insurance.

MRS. GEORGE T. MOORE DIES HERE SUNDAY

Mrs. George T. Moore died at the family residence at 8 a. m. Sunday, September 1. She had been in declining health for more than a year and confined to her room for about six months.

While Mrs. Moore's condition was known to be critical, her death came as a shock to the entire city. In her home during the past few months she had received the special care and attention of her physician and members of the household.

Funeral services were held at the residence by Rev. J. Coy Williams, pastor of First Methodist church. Interment was made in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Moore was born March 31, 1877 at Victoria, Texas, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baskins. Later in life Mrs. Moore made her home in Georgetown where she was married to George Tiffany Moore in (See MRS. MOORE on page 12)

Application for federal allotments on two public utility projects involving a total expenditure of $300,000 has been made to the Washington government by the City Council. The transaction occurred at a call meeting of the council one week ago.

No announcement was made of the meeting and the matter was a secret so far as the populace knew, until Tuesday when it became known for the first time.

Estimates have been made by a Fort Worth engineer and the application is now pending.

The expenditure calls for $150,000 each year for water and lights. It is understood the city council would seek to issue revenue bearing bonds to secure liquidation of the huge investment. The projects, if granted, would give the city a dual system of utilities on water and lights.

It is understood that the water system now owned by the Texas-Louisiana Power Company, and the system owned by the Texas Power & Light Company, are not for sale. The city would be forced to enter competition with these plants. Revenue bearing bonds in their relationship to liquidation are paid from plant earnings, although under the Texas laws bonds involve liens upon all property. In the event the plants did not succeed or the revenues were insufficient a tax would have to be levied to pay off the indebtedness.

It is believed the matter amounts to little more than a gesture and not possible to realize under existing conditions. The Roosevelt fight on utilities together with pleadings that projects be listed under the works bill, has led many political subdivisions to put in for a share of the money. It was understood that 40 per cent or more would be an outright grant.

Cotton Allotment Plan Explained By Member of Local Office Staff

There has been some confusion in the minds of the cotton producers as to how allotments were made of tax-exemption certificates to producers of Milam county. Allotments are made to the following class of producers in the manner outlined below:

1. Producers planting cotton in the base period years, 1928 to 1932, and who have averaged more than two bales per year, receive 60.4% of their 5-year adjusted average production.
2. Producers planting cotton in the base period years, but who have averaged less than two bales per year receive their total allotment.
3. Producers planting cotton in 1933 for the first time since 1927 receive 60.4% of their adjusted average production.

4. Producers planting cotton for the first time in 1933 since 1927 and who have averaged less than two bales per year, receive their total allotment.

5. Producers planting cotton for the first time in 1934 since 1927 receive 75% of 60.4% of their adjusted average production.

6. Producers planting cotton in 1935 for the first time since 1927 receive 50% of 60.4% of their adjusted estimated production for 1935.

Yours very truly,
N. C. Johnson, Jr., Assistant in Cotton Adjustment, Milam County, Texas.

UNDER THE COURT HOUSE

By

Bernice McLerran

What is to be done with the 15 year old negro who attacked a 13 year old white girl in the briary community during July, is the problem still unsolved by Milam County officers. The negro was taken quietly from jail here after a mob rumor and lodged in jail in another county. The sheriff fears that if the negro is released he might return to his community and there be mobbed.

Peace officers of the city and of the county have been invited to hear Dr. P. B. Hill, pastor of the Presbyterian church of San Antonio, in a revival at the Cameron Presbyterian church, September 7-13. Dr. Hill is a Texas Ranger, chaplain of the Texas Sheriff's Association and of all peace officers of Texas. Dr. Hill has contacted men in all walks of life. There is no doubt but that Dr. Hill will impart some valuable information as to the handling of the criminal.

For a man to get drunk and go on about his business quietly doesn't seem so bad, but when he gets tight and comes to the court house lawn almost under the sheriff's window and pulls off a "hog calling" contest, that's going a little too far. Sheriff Max Kennedy and his deputy, Clarence McCall thought so, too, when they arrested the man Saturday afternoon.

Encouraging reports for the completion of the basement of the court house for office space and rest rooms came from the county auditor's office Thursday. Blue prints for the improvement have been submitted by architects, and at the next Commissioners' Court meeting this project will probably receive favorable consideration. If county funds are not used to complete the basement, application for government funds will be made and with this application a large sum will be asked for so as to improve the interior of the court house, also, it was stated.

Dan Gunn, office deputy in the sheriff's department, has such a soothing touch on the typewriter. Walked in the sheriff's office the other day and Mr. Dan was certainly busy on his typewriter. Just a few feet from him sat a visitor on his way to "dreamland."

For the first time in years, the county has no elected woman official. Those who have served in the past have given efficient service and we know that there are women in this county, who if they so desired to run in future campaigns and if elected would give competent service. Women who have served this county in the past are: Miss Leila Woolley, tax assessor; Miss Lilian Atkinson, county clerk, and Mrs. Kathryn K. Robbins, county school superintendent. Upon the death of L. B. Fikes, county treasurer in 1934, his assistant, Mrs. Pearl House was urged to run, but declined. From popular opinion at that time, Mrs. House would have been elected county treasurer.

KNIGHTS BEAT OUT COMETS

The Cameron K. of C. ball team was victorious in an over-inning game with the Cameron Comets by a score of 6 to 5. The Knights scored the winning run in the thirteenth inning when the Knights manager, Rudolph Richter, drove in Bell with a single after two were down.

The Comets out-hit the Knights, the Comets getting 17 hits while the Knights were collecting 16. The Knights' hustling catcher, Bell, led both teams in getting hits with 5 hits out of 7 times to bat. Ondrej of the Comets had a perfect day getting 4 hits out of the same number of times at bat.

The game almost ended in a tie when the question arose in the tenth inning whether Ted Matula did or did not step across the base in punt-in Ernest Michalka with the winning run. The Chief umpire called the batter out and called the runners back to their bases. After much squabbling the teams decided to finish the game.

SENATOR POAGE DISCUSSES REVENUE FOR AGE PENSIONS

It appears that the Legislature will soon be in session again, and it has occurred to me that the people of the district might be interested in one or two of the problems that of necessity confront the Called Session.

With the passage of the Old Age Pension Amendment to the State Constitution, we are brought face to face with the unpleasant realization that the Legislature can not pay pensions to any one without levying taxes on some one else to get the money. Of course, whatever the Legislature does about the matter will be unsatisfactory to both the recipients of the pensions and to the taxpayers.

The first class will think that the Legislature is too niggardly, and that we should deal more liberally with them. The second class, who must pay the bills, will think the Legislature is too generous with their money, and, of course, that the Legislature has levied the wrong kind of tax, but the problem must be solved, and the obligation of the State to its dependant old must be met.

I do not think that the Legislature will embark upon a program of paying pensions to every one above the age of sixty-five. On the contrary, I feel sure that it will restrict this form of bounty to those in actual need, with the idea of co-operating with the Federal Government to assure our worthy old people that they will not spend their last years in want or on the relief roll, but, even though the Legislature throws far-reaching restrictions around the pension, it will cost the State many millions of dollars. Of course, no one can tell just how much until we know just what provisions will be made, but I think that it is a safe guess that it will add from ten to fifteen million dollars per year to the State's expenditures.

At the same time, we are faced with this added cost of State Government, we are compelled to recognize the justice of the demands of our property owning citizens that real property, in particular, be relieved of at least some of the load of the taxation that it is carrying. Rather than looking to the ad valorem tax as a source of new revenue, we must look to some other source to replace this time honored backbone of the State Tax System. The ad valorem tax now produces approximately twenty-two million dollars per year for all State purposes, including schools, Confederate pensions, and general revenue.

We are, therefore, left with but three outstanding forms of taxation reasonably available to this state. They are a State Income Tax, a State Sales Tax, and a Natural Resource or Severance Tax.

All incomes have been so reduced that an income tax would not be very productive. Moreover, the Federal Government has already exploited this field of taxation to such an extent that there seems to be nothing left for the State along that line.

A State Sales Tax has very powerful backing of all of those interests that fear an income or severance tax. It cannot, however, be denied that a sales tax falls heavier on those least able to pay. It ignores both of the fundamental maximums of taxation. First a tax should be in proportion to the ability of the taxpayer to pay, and second, it should be in proportion to the benefits received by the taxpayer from the government. There are, of course, conceivable situations where a sales tax might be justified, such as in time of war or in those communities where there are no other sources of revenue. Fortunately, this state has other sources to which it can turn.

We now collect in Texas from our natural resources about eight million dollars per year. This is accounted for almost entirely through the tax of two cents a barrel on crude oil and fifty-five cents a ton on sulphur. This amounts to about two per cent of the value of crude oil and about three per cent on the present value of sulphur. I know of no reason why our natural resources should not pay at least ten per cent of their value at the time of severance. This would produce approximately forty-four million dollars a year at the present rate of production, and at present prices. This tax is only paid once, whereas, a tax on land, buildings and so on, is paid over and over again every year for generations. Once these resources are severed from Texas soils they are forever lost to this state, and in that connection, we find, what, to my mind is the strongest single argument in favor of this form of taxation. It is passed on to the citizens of other states and countries. All other taxes are paid by our own citizens. An Ad Valorem Income or Sales Tax producing forty-four million dollars a year would reduce the usable income of Texas citizens by exactly that amount, but not so with the natural resource tax. Approximately ninety per cent of the products of our mines and wells are consumed beyond the borders of this State. The Severance Tax would unquestionably be passed on as other taxes are, and added to the cost of the product when finally sold, but these resources are finally sold in New York, Berlin, or Buenos Aires.

The manufacturing States long ago learned that they could tax their mills and pass on to the people of the agricultural and natural resource States like Texas, and they have been doing it successfully. We have no manufacturers that we could use as an instrumentality for passing our tax burden, but the people of the other States and Nations of the world must buy our oil, gas, and salt and sulphur.

Of course, I know that the objection is immediately urged that were we in Texas to levy a tax of ten cents a barrel on crude oil, no more Texas crude would be sold, but that the Eastern and Foreign market would be supplied by Oklahoma. It is true that Oklahoma could produce enough oil to supply these markets, at least temporarily, but what are the facts in regard to getting it there? In order to reach the markets of the world, Oklahoma must pass through Texas ports. It costs twenty cents a barrel, including gathering charge to move a barrel of crude oil from Gladewater or Kilgore to shipside at Port Arthur or Houston. It costs forty-two and one-half cents per barrel, including the gathering charge, to move a similar barrel of oil from Oklahoma City or Tulsa to the same ports. Oklahoma now has four cents per barrel tax on crude oil. (Louisiana has, by the way, a graduated tax, ranging up to eleven cents per barrel and Louisiana oil still moves in the commerce of the world). That makes a total cost of transportation and tax of forty-six and one-half cents a barrel on Oklahoma oil at deep water. If Texas levied a ten cents a barrel tax, we would still only have a thirty cents fixed charge on our oil at the same points. This would leave Texas oil with a sixteen and a half cents advantage over Oklahoma oil on the world market. Does it not seem that with these

God-given resources and unequalled transportation facilities, this State should be able to abandon the State Ad Valorem Tax entirely, and still take care of our needy, old people from a severance tax. Figure it out for yourself, a ten per cent Severance Tax will produce forty-four million dollars. The present Severance Tax produces eight million. The present Ad Valorem Tax produces twenty-two million. This leaves approximately fourteen million dollars with which we could pay pensions, if we could make this change.

Of course, tax bills cannot be introduced in the Senate. I will not, therefore, be able to sponsor this measure, but I expect such a measure to be entered in the House, and expect to support this change in our tax system. It will, of course, have the opposition of all the big oil companies, as well as most all other out of state concerns, but the people must now determine just how they are going to pay for their government.

Yours very sincerely,
W. R. POAGE,
Senator, 13th District.

Burglars Get $250 In Merchandise Monday Night, Loewenstein's

Burglars entered the Loewenstein store in Rockdale Monday night and made away with merchandise to the value of approximately $200, according to Harley Stane, store manager.

Entrance was effected through a skylight, and the only clues left consisted of a work shirt and an old leather belt which had been used to form a rope by which the thief could drop down in the building.

Sheriff Kennedy came over Tuesday morning and started an investigation.—Rockdale Reporter.

Many Times Not The Child's Fault

Just a few more days and school will open. If your child failed last year, don't be too severe in your criticism, till you know for sure if his eyes are functioning properly.

Should he need glasses and you fail to supply them, then the responsibility rests on your head and not on the child's. Have his eyes examined and if glasses are needed, he will be told so, and if glasses are not needed he will be told so.

Give your child a fair chance this year. You owe them that much. To fail in a grade means a year lost, besides, the embarrassment to the child and family.

TWO HELD AS SUSPECTS IN ROCKDALE SHOOTING

A boy and a man are being held here in jail as suspects for shooting at Mrs. Floyd Horton of near Rockdale Thursday morning.

The two suspects were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Clarence McCall Saturday morning in Rockdale. On the morning of the shooting Sheriff Max Kennedy arrested a suspect but he was released.

Mrs. Horton delivers morning papers on a route including Minerva, Rockdale and other communities in that section. While on her way to get a neighbor boy, who usually assisted her in delivering daily papers, Mrs. Horton was fired upon when she got out to open a gate. She returned the shot and drove away.

WOMAN DRIVES BANDIT FROM CAR WITH GUN

Shooting it out with a highjacker was the thrilling experience of Mrs. Floyd Horton about one o'clock this (Thursday) morning.

Mrs. Horton, local circulator for the Austin American, was just starting on her 100-mile route. She had stopped at a wire gate about two miles north of town, and had gotten out of her car to open the gate, when she heard someone running through high weeds.

Whirling to face the car she saw a man attempting to open the right hand door. She had left the doors locked except the one to the left of the driver's seat, and drawing her six shooter, she ran to that door and got in the car. The highjacker stepped back toward the rear of the car and fired at her through the right hand rear door window. The bullet smashed through the glass door, and went out through the left door window, clipping a lock of hair from the back of her head.

Mrs. Morton Fires

Mrs. Horton took time to fire one shot at the man, and then gave the car the gas and crashed through the wire gate and sped away. The highjacker fired twice again at the car, one bullet striking it in the rear.

Mrs. Horton stated this morning that for the past several nights she has felt that she was being watched, and she feels sure that the attempt to steal her car was made by someone who had familiarized himself with her route, and who had deemed that particular spot the best place to get it while she was opening the gate.

In addition to the bullet hole and broken window the car was also slightly damaged when it went through the wire gate.—Rockdale Reporter.

Boys Find Specimens Of Mica Last Week While Digging Well

Specimens of mica taken from a formation found about 20 feet under ground in the Gee Prairie community are on display in the Reporter window this week. The specimens were left by B. Regenbrecht, who stated that they were found by one of the Key boys while digging a well last week.

A ledge of the mineral substance about two feet thick was encountered, it was stated.

Geologist H. Clay Vance differs with other local geologists in the opinion that the substance is mica. Vance contends that it is only gypsum rock.—Rockdale Reporter.

(Herald Editor's Note): Mica embraces a group of minerals which split into perfect sheets owing to their cleavage. They have elastic properties possessed by no other minerals. Sheet mica was formerly used for windows. It is now used for lamp chimneys, stoves, sound devices and as insulation for electrical apparatus. Scrap mica or ground portions are used in the manufacture of wall paper and as a lubricant in connection with grease or oil. More than 50 per cent of the world's supply of mica comes from India. Geologists have found mica in 20 American states.

Miss Betty Dobish and Francis Keister, Both of Houston, Are Married Here Monday In Catholic Ceremony at St. Monica's Church

A pretty wedding on Monday morning at the St. Monica's church in this city united Miss Betty Dobish of Houston and Francis Keister, also of Houston. Rev. Geo. Apel read the wedding Mass with the wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dobish of Cameron. She was reared here and attended school here. For the past several years she has been employed in Houston. For the wedding ceremony, her frock was of white satin. The skirt was flaring with a train. The sleeves were long and puffed. Loops of white satin over white covered buttons fastened the frock in the back. Her veil, in bonnet effect, was caught with imitation orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white rosebud.

The bride was attended by Miss

Alice Strzinek, Miss Milada Hrozek and Miss Vlasta Hrozek, all of Cameron. Each of the attendants wore dresses of silk crepe. Miss Strzinek wore a frock of green with a corsage of yellow rosebuds; Miss Milada Hrozek, pink with orchid rainbow asters. And Miss Vlasta Hrozek, orchid with pink rosebuds. Each wore veiled turbans.

Escorts to the bride's attendants were: Bill Harshey, Albert Strzinek and Howard Bower, all of Houston.

Wedding music was rendered by Miss Annie Michalka.

The groom was reared in New York, but for a number of years has been living in Houston and is employed at the Weingartens, also. The couple will make their home in Houston after a honeymoon in New York.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Strzinek.

25 CENT TELEGRAM IS WESTERN UNION OFFER

A twenty-five cent telegram for sending birthday greetings to any point in the United States, proposed by the Western Union Telegraph Company in a tariff filed with the Federal Communications Commission to be effective October first, marks a wholly new departure in the telegraph field.

The texts of the birthday telegram are to be selected by the senders from a standard list of thirty messages which have proven favorites for such occasions. The messages, it is proposed, are to be filed at any time not later than the day preceding the birthday, and are to be transmitted over night and delivered in the morning on a colorfully decorated special birthday blank.

Western Union has in recent times offered twenty-five cent flat rates for more limited purposes, such as greeting telegram from the Century of Progress last year, and now from the San Diego Exposition and from the top of the Empire State Building, but they have been restricted to messages sent from those particular points of interest. The present proposal represents the first offer of a telegraph service of country wide application at a low flat rate regardless of origin or destination. The telegraph company is making preparations to meet the anticipated popular demand for the novel service.

Officials of the telegraph company pointed out today that Western Union inaugurated the Night Letter, the day letter, Timed Wire Service, and the various other services which have tended to popularize the use of telegrams for purposes of all kinds and that the twenty-five cent birthday telegram is another step forward in this program of progress.

ing to do to avert chaos for men. If the League of Nations decides to apply pressure on the Italians, in the form of sanctions, as the British favor, the English will be ready with their fleet to see to it that no surprise attack imperils their interests.

The Italian Dictator is talking plainly. Mussolini says any action by the League will be opposed with military force. He counts on a divided League—he would not speak in this way if he believed France, Britain, and other countries were united and ready to meet the issue. Unfortunately only the British seem to be inclined to accept full responsibilities, and only then if the others unite with her. On the other hand, if Italy tresspasses upon British rights, the British will act, even alone, and they are getting ready for whatever comes. Peoples everywhere owe much to Great Britain in this crisis. Their hooves speed across the world to the statesmen who gather Wednesday to meet the momentous issue of war.

Back To School

Hundreds of students in Milam county will be going back to school next week, and it is interesting to speculate upon the benefits to be derived from their studies. That the acquisition of an education equips an individual for greater service is not denied, but that education, in itself, will make a better citizen, is open to question.

The curriculums of the schools are receiving greater attention every year, whether the school be a local graded affair or a university. Many thoughtful people have come to the conclusion that most of our schools do not pay enough attention to the life that the student will have to live when he gets out of school.

In a community where many children will be unable to go to college it behooves the local authorities to provide, as far as possible, for the future welfare of the scholar by equipping the boys and girls for the actual duties of life.

We are naturally proud of our schools, and the current thought of the educational world that views curriculums with alarm is not aimed so much at the efficiency of the present school, carrying out present educational ideals, as it is the ideals themselves. The question is whether these are the correct aims of schools. And there is a considerable body of opinion that holds there is a necessity for a broader training than is now the rule.

Raskob's New Effort

The Honorable John J. Raskob, industrial mogul, breaks into print to urge every leader in finance and industry to rise in defense of the form of government under which "every man and woman may work, earn, save and acquire property and be protected in the lawful use of that property when acquired."

The millions of unemployed in this country are particularly anxious to discover that "form of government" where "every man and woman may work" and for the present will, no doubt, be willing to waive some of the "save and acquire" hurrahs if they can land a permanent job.

The leaders of finance and industry to whom Brother Raskob appeals, had a great chance to save this country a few years ago by strangling the robbing crooks who were operating under the shadow of the law and wrecking the welfare of millions of people. They sat quietly while the crooking was under way and it was not through their efforts that the cleaning up process began.

Pennsylvania and Negroes

The negroes of the entire United States will be interested in the recently passed, "No Discrimination Law," which goes into effect on September first in the great state of Pennsylvania.

The bill which passed the two Houses with a lone dissenting vote, was promptly signed by Governor Earle, although a faint objection was heard. The law stipulates that there shall be no discrimination against Negroes or any other persons "because of race, creed or color" in nearly forty types of business places, including inns, taverns, hotels, ice cream parlors, saloons, theatres, music halls, libraries, schools, colleges and public conveyances.

Pennsylvania's population in 1930 was 9,631,350, of which 431,257 were classified as negroes. It will be interesting to note the enforcement of the new law and in 1940 the increased Negro population of Pennsylvania. Certainly if there is a dissatisfied Negro anywhere in the United States, who is disgruntled over the treatment received in any section, it is relatively easy to make a trip to Pennsylvania, settle down and enjoy liberty and privileges guaranteed under the new law.

About Your Home

The average citizen of Milam county has an exalted opinion of home, if you hear what is said, but we wonder if all who praise the beauty of home life make a contribution to happiness within the four walls of their own domiciles.

Human beings, at best, are hardly civilized. They are emotional and elemental, being usually selfish. Most of them look upon home, just as we look upon life, as a place to get something for nothing. Few of us seek an opportunity for service, either in our homes or our communities.

The average home would be vastly improved if each member of the family suddenly became imbued with the idea that it offers a rare opportunity to express the finest side of our beings, which means the unselfish side.

BURLINGTON TO VOTE BONDS FOR ROADS

Petition circulated among property owners in the Burlington voting precinct indicated Wednesday that steps might be taken at once to call an election to vote bonds to build lateral roads.

The district there long ago paid off its bonded indebtedness. The state also assisted many communities in taking up bonded debts. Burlington lateral roads are in the black land belt of the county.

Just a few more days and school will open. If your child failed last year, don't be too severe in your criticism, till you know for sure if his eyes are functioning properly.

Should he need glasses and you fail to supply them, then the responsibility rests on your head and not on the child's. Have his eyes examined and if glasses are needed, he will be told so, and if glasses are not needed he will be told so.

Give your child a fair chance this year. You owe them that much. To fail in a grade means a year lost, besides, the embarrassment to the child and family.

Health's sake . . .

HEAT

Your ENTIRE House

If you are susceptible to colds, and most people have from two to three each winter, you owe it to your health to heat your home adequately as a protection against sudden changes in temperature which are a contributory cause of colds.

With the entire house properly heated and ventilated, you have greater comfort and the satisfaction of knowing that you are taking the precaution of guarding your family's health.

One single illness to a member of your family will cost you far more in money and suffering than the few dollars you will spend for adequate heat to combat winter colds. So look over your heating equipment now. Some might need repairing. Some might need replacing altogether with modern equipment. Whatever it takes, do it now, for August is the opportune time to buy advantageously modern gas heating equipment. For your health's sake, heat your entire home.

Refreshing Relief When You Need a Laxative

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. Lester Roberson, well known hardware dealer at Martinsville, Va., writes: "I certainly can recommend Black-Draught as a splendid medicine. SHARP NEWS

Cotton picking is going fast around here at present.

The Sharp school building for vocational agriculture and home economics has recently been finished.

Jimmie Branstetter, prominent farmer of the Sharp community, was certainly surprised Monday morning, August 26 when his mules ran off with his wagon. "Little Toby" wasn't over 25 years old, Jimmie said, but this makes me believe in the old saying once a man and twice a child, and no doubt Toby had reached his second childhood.

Rev. E. H. Gunn, evangelist for Milam county and Rev. Obledo, Mexican missionary for Milam county, will conduct services in the old W. O. W. Hall here. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. M. Wheatley of Port Arthur visited in this community Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gafford and family of Port Arthur are visiting here.

Again it is almost time for all school districts to line up and begin a new session of school. The Sharp Consolidated Schools will begin Monday, September 9, with the members of the faculty as follows: C. R. Middleton, superintendent; M. V. Halla-man, Scott Fikes, Bill Ryan, Miss Lohma Louise Reed, Miss Mildred Massengale, Mrs. R. L. Hargrove, Mrs. Modesette. Those to drive the busses are: Robert Bolton, Lantis Petty, A. J. Von Rosenberg and J. L. Byrd. H. D. Whites will be janitor. Coach Fikes reports that he expects his football squad to take off many honors this season. The new building was completed Monday. The school board passed on it. Everybody seems pleased with it.

Louisa's Letter

BRIDE OF A YEAR AND A "PUZZLED HUSBAND."

Dear Louisa:

I have been married just one year and I thought at the time that I was getting the most wonderful girl in the world. But I am beginning to think just the opposite. Because I do not tell her how much I love her every minute of the day she mopes around and looks like sad-eyed Susie.

I make a good salary and she gets her allowance so she is not unhappy about money for she has about what she wants in the way of clothes and luxuries. If I come home enthusiastic over a trip I am planning for the two of us, or something like that, half the time she will look at me sadly and say that she has on a new dress and I haven't noticed it, or had I realized she had done her hair a new way and then she always adds that I always noticed such things before she was married but I must be ceasing to love her, etc.

Now I think she is just as lovely as ever but seems like I've told her enough times so that she ought to know it by now. If she keeps it up she is going to wreck our marriage.

PUZZLED HUSBAND.

Answer: As has been said many times before, the first year is the hardest. That is the time we have to come down out of the clouds and stand on solid ground again.

There is no denying it, that a girl who has been placed on a pedestal by her lover and has been told how lovely and wonderful she is, hundreds of times, gets a distinct jar when the husband begins to express his love for her with beef steak and house rent instead of adoring compliments. But the quicker she learns that love can be expressed in material ways, the sooner her marriage will develop into a sane and beautiful relationship.

Now I do not mean by this that a husband or wife should cease declaring their love for each other or pass up compliments altogether. But these things should be taken as one would a whipped cream dessert—as a delightful adjunct to the real meals of life.

If husbands could realize how much more attention and consideration they can command with a little flattery, however, they would not think it such a waste of time.

The man who brags on his wife's economy and cooking is usually the one who has money in the bank and good meals on the table. If I were you Puzzled Husband, I should make it my business to remember that praise is a good oil for the machinery of matrimony and use a little of it even though it comes hard.

And to you, young wife, I would say that there are two kinds of men; one to whom flattery comes naturally and who deals out nice flattery by the peck while the other kind finds it hard to express his devotion no matter how deeply he feels. But if my husband showered me with luxuries and his time and his only fault was the lack of verbal "I love you's," I'd consider myself a lucky woman.

PARNELL WILL NOT TAKE FEDERAL JOB

E. D. Parnell was offered a position with the Federal Government in the department of soil erosion at a considerable advance salary.

He requested the school board to grant him his resignation and it was granted.

However, when it became evident that the board would be unable to secure a man with the desired qualifications and because the agricultural plan would suffer with an inexperienced teacher, Mr. Parnell was requested to reconsider his previous determination to resign.

Thus having been broached, Mr. Parnell has reconsidered and will continue his work in the Cameron High School.

A RESOLUTION

Whereas, the City Council of the City of Cameron, Texas, is desirous of encouraging prompt payment of taxes by property owners for the purpose of raising funds with which to defray current and other expenses of the city and the further purpose of raising sufficient funds at an early date to maintain efficiently the public schools of the City of Cameron, and;

Whereas, the City Council of the City of Cameron, after careful consideration of this matter is of the opinion that a discount of 5% of the total amount of the taxes due for the year 1935 (exclusive of the poll tax) will obviate the necessity of borrowing money by the city, thus save expenses and benefit every tax payer who avails himself of this opportunity.

THEREFORE, be it resolved by the City Council of Cameron, Texas, that the City Tax Collector of the said city for a period of forty one days, to-wit: from the 20th day of August, 1935, to and including the 30th day of September, 1935, be and is herenow instructed to issue an official receipt to every person who pays his taxes within the above time and accept the same less 5% discount on the total amount of all current taxes (except poll taxes) levied, rendered and assessed for such year.

Passed and approved this 20th day of August, A. D. 1935.

CHAS. C. SMITH, Mayor, of the City of Cameron, Texas.

TIMOTHY

International Sunday School Lesson
for September 15, 1935

GOLDEN TEXT: "Give diligence to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not be ashamed, handling aright the word of truth." 2 Tim. 2:15.

(Lesson Text: 2 Timothy 1:1-14)

Second Timothy is the last writing of Paul the Apostle, as far as we know, at least, it is the last he wrote which we have today. When this letter to Timothy was written Paul was in prison in Rome, his second confinement, and shortly afterwards he met his martyr's death.

Timothy was a native of Lystra, a city in Central Asia Minor. During his first missionary journey Paul preached there, incurring the enmity of some who had stoned him. It is thought probable that he first came in contact with Timothy at this time. At any rate while on the second missionary journey, Paul was joined by Timothy as an assistant and from this time on we find this young man associated with Paul more continuously and intimately than any other. Paul regarded him as his spiritual son and evidenced oftentimes a peculiar affection and esteem for him.

The pastoral epistles known as first and second Timothy, serving as head of the new faith at Ephesus, where, according to tradition, he later met a martyr's death. At the time of the letters, however, Paul sought to help the young leader in meeting the many perplexing problems which confronted him as the expounder of a new faith in competition with pagan beliefs and conflicting religions.

Most of our information about Timothy comes through Paul. In one of the selections of our lesson text he pays tribute to the genuine faith which actuated Timothy, crediting it in large part to the influence of his grandmother Lois and his mother Eunice, two very admirable women, to whom Paul gave honor and admiration. This devout attitude on the part of Timothy, Paul ascribes to the fact that from a young child he had been acquainted with the sacred writings, which with faith in Jesus would make him wise under salvation.

At the time the religious writings consisted only of the Old Testament, whereas today we are much richer in the possession of the New Testament as well. Paul's tribute to Timothy that "he worketh the work of the Lord as I also do," should be recognized as high praise, for Paul never hesitated to denounce heresy and oppose unfaithful workers.

Timothy's case illustrates the abiding influence of a family which was devout and religious. Heredity plays its part in the formation of religious conviction, therefore, the importance of parents realizing their obligation as divinely appointed priests to their own household. The home should be not only a school but a temple as well, and children should receive their religious education primarily by precept and example in their own home.

If a child is brought in contact with the good and beautiful in life, is impressed with the value of excellence in all things, and inspired to seek to know the truth and follow it, he is more than apt to be a creditable citizen and blessing both to his parents and the world at large. Carlyle's last letter to his mother contained the statement that he had nothing for which he was thankful as for his mother, and Wesley stated that without inherited traits from his mother he would not have been able to perform half of the valuable service he rendered.

Paul advised Timothy to rest confidently in the things which he had learned and hold fast to the truths of which he was assured. Inspired scripture is profitable to mankind, being more than a library of good literature and an instructor in proper morals for it contains the power when set in motion by faith in Jesus Christ not only to point the proper way of life but to furnish the believer with the dynamic energy to live that that way.

No other body of writings is as valuable for instruction, for consolation, to promote spirituality, or to answer the cravings of aspirations of mankind as the Bible read by Christians today. It can stand the test of experience, for it fits the conditions of the modern heart just as correctly as it reached mankind in ancient years. Man's relation to man and man's relation to God has not changed in recent centuries and these relationships form the subject matter of our holy scriptures.

The Christian today can challenge the unbeliever to read and apply biblical truths, confident that the Bible will stand the test of human trial.

of important churches at Roanoke, Virginia and Louisville, Kentucky, where he rebuilt the old First church. He came to San Antonio, and in September, 1921, began his pastorate of the First Presbyterian church. Under his leadership this church enlarged its auditorium and built an educational building that is outstanding in the Assembly and inaugurated a program of religious education that has attracted wide attention. The First Presbyterian church had the distinction for several years of leading the Assembly in the number of members added on profession of faith and has rarely missed a Sunday without receiving some one into its fellowship. On a recent Sunday seventy members were received, 54 of them on profession of faith.

For some years the First Church was the largest in the Southern assembly which position it held until a movement known as the Presbyterian Council and fostered by Dr. Hill, was organized. Through this, with the cooperation of the Assembly's Home Mission Committee at Atlanta, a strong church with an able minister was established in every suburb of San Antonio. Soon after coming to San Antonio, he inaugurated and directed the Diamond Jubilee of Protestantism, commemorating the founding of the First Presbyterian church, which was the first Protestant church in San Antonio. This celebration in which the Protestant churches of the city participated was concluded with a parade in which more than thirty thousand Protestant Christians marched without denominational distinction or sectarian bias and brought about a unification of Protestantism in the city that continues to be set before the world an example of the strength and beauty of Christian unity.

Dr. Hill has been a valiant champion of Christian education and of the denominational college and especially has championed the cause of Austin College which he serves as a member of its Board of Trustees. He is a strong fundamentalist and has served the Assembly on several important committees.

Through his radio services which reach from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico, he has become widely known in Texas, in the United States and beyond its borders.

Dr. Hill holds a unique position as Captain and Chaplain of the Texas Rangers and is Chaplain of practically every peace officers' organization in the state as well as the Texas Pioneers, Old Freighters and other organizations. Because of his relationship with law enforcement bodies, he has been able to find an approach to men and women of the underworld and has been used of God to lead many to Christ and to useful service.

Dr. Hill was married to Miss Ella Lee Thraves of Amelia County, Virginia in 1905. Their eldest son, Samuel, is pastor of the Presbyterian church at Beeville, Texas. Other members of the family are John P. Hill, clerk of the Seventy-third District court; Miss Martha Eve Hill, engaged in educational work in San Antonio, and David Lee Hill, a student at A. & M. College.
